

What's possible in 1,000 days?

Early help for children and families supports child well-being and reduces health and education costs.

Did you know?

NEARLY 85%

of brain growth occurs in a child's first 1,000 days

That includes infant and toddler development in:

- MOTOR SKILLS
- SPEECH
- COGNITIVE & PROCESSING
- SOCIAL & EMOTIONAL

Home visiting supports parents through their child's first 1,000 days.

94%

of children enrolled in home visiting completed their recommended well-child visits¹

LESS THAN

2%

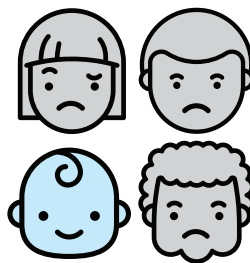

of children were first-time victims of maltreatment¹

We can do better.

SC RANKS

39

in overall child well-being

263,300
eligible families

could benefit from home visiting¹

Today is the day that you can make a difference.

Visit scHomeVisiting.org for more details.

1. Source: NHVRC South Carolina State Profile 2017 published by the National Home Visiting Research Center

The South Carolina Home Visiting Consortium is a collaborative group which exists to coordinate, promote, and advocate for home visiting efforts that support children and families in South Carolina.